

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a portable garment rack that allows for storage of grooming items, other small items, and accessories, and clothes at a temporary location.

The portable garment rack includes an upper hanger bar and an intermediate hanger bar 5 for hanging clothes. An upper accessory shelf and a flexible intermediate accessory shelf are also provided for storing various loose articles. The portable garment rack can be collapsed to a small size for storage and transportation, and then reassembled at a remote location.

10